Additional thoughts:

1. [IRM] Having moved to the team somewhat recently, I've found them to be open, welcoming, eager to collaborate, and well organized when it comes to planned work. There's a lot of ad-hoc work ongoing also, and they're all very thoughtful about managing that workload alongside the planned work without overcommitting. I've already learned a bunch, and am excited to be a part of this team.
2. [IRM] The best way to get folks to open up is seeing those with the most privilege use it to be vulnerable. I'd love to see more of that.
3. [IRM] The team culture needs some work to reflect the wider Grafana experience. The team also needs more support and room to work less rushed and reactively
4. [IRM] Top marks, loving it here :raised_hands:
